PEOPLE URGED TO VOTE IN FAVOR OF ROAD MEASURE IN SPITE OF DECISION

"While Life There's Hope," Says Patterson, Member of Commission

OTHER AMENDMENTS MAY BE AFFECTED TOO

Service Men May Lose Benefit of Poll Tax Exemption.

The capital is blue as a result of the decision of the Supreme Court, holding unconstitutional the $25,000,000 good roads bond amendment, according to A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission and member of the Alabama Highway Commission from the Eighth Congressional district. Mr. Patterson returned here today to spend the week-end with his family here. He will return to Montgomery Sunday afternoon.

Despite the decision of the court holding the amendment null and void, the Alabama Highway Association will go right ahead with its efforts to obtain a majority in favor of the amendment, to be voted on February 8 and authorizing the commission to dispose of the bonds at an interest rate of not exceeding 6 per cent, Mr. Patterson announced.

"Of course everybody was not surprised at the decision of the court," Mr. Patterson said. "It was not entirely unlooked for, but there was a degree of disappointment in all circles, nevertheless. It was a great blow at the state's plan for development of the Alabama road system."

Life There's Hope
"However, so long as there is life there is hope, and we still have the right to request a rehearing. Whether or not the request will accomplish anything is problematical, but we still have the hope."

"In the meantime the state highway advocates are going ahead with the campaign to obtain ratification of the new amendment to be voted on this month."

"The original amendment received perhaps the greatest majority ever given a similar measure in this state. It was reaffirmed by the legislature when the second amendment was offered. If it is reaffirmed by the people this month these considerations may or may not have some weight with the court."

May Affect Others
Mr. Patterson stated constitutional authorities fear that other amendments may be affected by the decision on the bond act. Included in these measures is the amendment providing relief from payment of poll taxes by men who served in the military service. The amendment, which was passed last year by the people of the state, exempts service men from payment of the tax from their entry into the service until 1923.

While the soldier amendment was not under consideration by the court at this time, it is declared that it was submitted through practically the same channels as was the road amendment. It is feared that should it be attacked in court, it would be held unconstitutional. Should this action be taken this year, it would render voteless all men who have been receiving benefits under its provisions, inasmuch as the poll tax for 1921 could not be paid for this year after February 1.

SILVERMAN STOCK IS BOUGHT BY ORY

UNDERSTOOD IT WILL BE DIVIDED BETWEEN TWO ORY STORES

The bankrupt stock of Charles Silverman, at Hartselle, has been purchased by S. E. Ory, it was announced this afternoon. The consideration is said to have been approximately $18,000.

While Mr. Ory was not ready at this time to announce his plans in connection with the stock's disposal, it was understood that it would be divided between the local Ory store and the one at Hartselle.

Hoover Sending Food to Hungry Europe

Herbert C. Hoover, as chairman of the European relief council, paid a visit to the Bush docks in Brooklyn the other day to supervise personally the shipment of foodstuffs to the council's distribution centers in central Europe.

STERN WARNING IS GIVEN GERMANS TO MEET THE DEMANDS

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, England, Feb. 5.—A stern warning to Germany not to attempt to evade the Allied demands for disarmament and war indemnity was sounded by Premier Lloyd George in a speech here today. The Premier declared that the Allies are determined that Germany must disarm, despite the fact that "Germany is threatened with something like revolution." He said the world could have no positive assurance of lasting peace until there is disarmament.

"A challenge treaty is now in suspense. Notably there are two conditions which must be respected by Germany. There can be no peace without disarmament. We can no longer tolerate the terrible equipment and armament of the past," said Lloyd George.

The Premier declared the whole German people wanted war and that no one class was particularly guilty. "All the German people are solid for war. If they had won the war they all would gladly have shared in the booty. If the counter-proposals for indemnity to be presented by Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister, are fair, they will get consideration. If they are only for evasion they will not stand."

WILL HOLMES CASE IS NEARING AN END

(International News Service)

TUSCUMBIA, Ala., Feb. 5.—The case of Will Holmes, indicted with 16 others in connection with the slaying of Don Stevenson, prohibition officer, will go to the jury today.

Holmes, it is said, is the leader of an alleged "moonshiners' ring" which conspired to kill prohibition officers. Three members of the alleged ring have already been tried and convicted. Louis Kirby, Holmes' chauffeur, testified Holmes was the owner of several stills and he had heard him say he would "get" prohibition officers if they destroyed any more of his plants.

Hamp Kirby, first man to be tried, now under sentence of life imprisonment, was the principal witness for the state in the Holmes case. Jake Smith, now under sentence of 30 years, denied any knowledge of the conspiracy. Later, however, under cross-examination, his statement became contradictory when asked why he ran away, he said that it was because he didn't want to testify.

More interest is manifest in the outcome of the Holmes trial than in any of the others.

WILSON REFUSES TO REDUCE ARMY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Wilson today vetoed a resolution passed by Congress reducing the strength of the army to 175,000. "I regret I am not able to see in the condition of the world or in the needs of the United States any such change as would justify the restriction upon that minimum which is proposed by the House joint resolution," President Wilson declared.

Two Are Shot as Still is Raided

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—Doss Short and Bob Cunningham were in the Hillman hospital Saturday while a third man, Grover Parker, was in the county jail as a result of a raid by deputy sheriffs Friday upon a large still on the Taylor ferry road near Rock Creek.

According to the sheriff's office when the deputies ran upon the still, three men were found operating it. When ordered to hold up their hands they are said to have drawn revolvers. Several shots were fired by the deputies. Short fell with a flesh wound in the hip. Another shot broke Cunningham's left leg. Parker was uninjured.

Strong Language Cut From Record

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The testimony of General Charles Dawes, Chicago banker, before the Johnson committee investigating expenses, will be expurgated before it is printed for permanent record, it was learned today. Congressional decorum was badly strained by listening to Dawes' "picture" vocabulary and it is felt that to have his burning words before them in permanent form would crack it plumb out of joint. Consequently all the "hells" and "damns" with which Dawes pictured his opposition to the investigating committee in general, will be cut out of the record.

REPUBLICANS MAKE ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAM NOW EXISTING IN SENATE

Propose to Use Sundry Civil Appropriation Measure as Lever

PENROSE ANTICIPATES VOTE EARLY IN WEEK

Republican Leaders Again Reverse Themselves on the Tariff Legislation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The legislative jam in the senate was broken today when Republican leaders succeeded in having the sundry civil appropriation bill called up. The bill contains an appropriation for $10,000,000 for the further development of the Muscle Shoals project, in which Democratic senators are interested. The tariff bill was temporarily laid aside.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Another attempt was made by Republican leaders today in the Senate to break the legislative jam. They proposed to use the sundry civil appropriations bill as a lever to prevent a renewal of the footless debate on the emergency tariff.

Senator Penrose, Republican of Pennsylvania, chairman of the finance committee, insists that a vote on the tariff bill, with or without a unanimous consent agreement, will be secured next week.

Penrose's announcement that he anticipated a vote on the bill next week was construed by his Democratic opponents as meaning the Republican leaders had again reversed themselves and, finding themselves unable to support the bill with the appropriations bill, had decided instead of opposing a vote to support one.

Both sides concede if the bill does come to a vote its passage is probable, although the President's veto of it is also anticipated. Less than four weeks now remain in which to dispose of twelve appropriation bills, including those providing for the army and navy establishment and even with the tariff bill out of the way, the Republican leaders admit the Senate will have to move fast to pass them all.

OIL DEVELOPMENT PLANS CONSIDERED BY COMMISSIONERS

The plan for developing the oil possibilities here was under consideration by the Alabama Public Service Commission today. President Patterson, accompanied by Capt. W. C. Oates, attorney for the commission, was making an investigation of the project today and the report will be laid before the commission at its regular session on Wednesday, according to present plans.

Under the provisions of a recently enacted law, all stock offered for sale to the public comes under the scrutiny of the public service body. Once stamped with the approval of the state, the stock may be offered for sale in any part of Alabama.

CYCLONE SWEEPS HALEYVILLE AND DOES BIG DAMAGE; NO LIVES ARE LOST

Small Outhouses and Live Stock Are Reported Blown Away

RESIDENCE PICKED UP AND BLOWN 100 YARDS

Family Had Just Escaped From Building and Are Uninjured

(International News Service)

HALEYVILLE, Ala., Feb. 5.—A cyclonic storm struck Haleyville at 4:30 o'clock this morning. Houses were moved. Small outhouses, garages, automobiles and some live stock were blown away.

Telegraph and telephone communications were broken. So far no one is reported injured, though it is considered miraculous how some escaped being killed.

The residence of E. J. McNabb was picked up by the twister and removed 100 yards into Mineral Springs hollow. Mr. and Mrs. McNabb and their three children escaped to a place of safety just before the house was carried away.

The family of J. R. Duncan was uninjured when their residence was blown off its foundation. A cow and horse were killed when a barn collapsed.

A cow was blown over a fence without injury. The twister came from a northwestern direction and its outward course appeared almost due north.

ANOTHER VISITOR UNDER TREATMENT FOR "SMALLPOX"

Another visitor to the Twin Cities was under smallpox treatment by the health officials today, following an examination last night by Dr. B. F. Austin and Dr. J. Y. Hamil.

The victim is a white man of excellent appearance and a member of the T. P. A. He was very much chagrined when he was told he was a sufferer from the dreaded disease. According to the information given Dr. Austin, the visitor, who thought he was suffering from some sort of minor disease, went to Dr. Hamil last night for medical treatment.

The latter became suspicious of the symptoms and called in Dr. Austin. The victim was placed in an isolated building last night. Today members of the T. P. A. were planning to do everything possible for his comfort.

Harding Considers Important Issues

(International News Service)

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Feb. 5.—Two important problems are known to be under consideration by President-elect Harding today. He is reported to be deeply conscious of the importance of the relations between Japan and the United States, which his administration will be called upon to settle, and is extremely anxious to select an ambassador to the court of the Mikado, in whose ability and discretion he has absolute confidence.

JURY IS EXPECTED TO GET LANCASTER CASE THIS EVENING

(International News Service.)

HAMILTON, Ala., Feb. 5.—Fifty minutes after court convened today the defense closed its case in the trial of Sergeant Robert L. Lancaster, charged with the lynching of William Baird at Jasper on January 13. Two hours will be consumed in rebuttal, the state announced.

Arguments were begun at noon. The case is expected to be placed in the hands of the jury early this evening. It was announced, after a conference between opposing counsel, that tentative agreement had been reached that the trial of Sergeant Glenn Stephens, second of the nine members of Company M to be placed on trial, would begin on Monday, February 14.

Defense witnesses today included over 500 veterans who testified as to Lancaster's war record. Shelby Hodges of Hodges testified that he was in the war with Lancaster and that the defendant's character was good.

State's attorneys announced the state will put up seven witnesses in rebuttal. Indications are that Judge Sowell will charge the jury just before or just after the evening meal.

Arguments were to begin when the state closed its rebuttal, three hours being allotted each side. W. C. Davis, for the state, was to make the first argument, to be followed by Ernest Fite, for the defense, Circuit Solicitor Pennington for the state, Fleetwood Rice and A. H. Carmichael for the defense, and Horace C. Wilkinson, special prosecutor for the state.

In its rebuttal the state sought to discredit the testimony of Corporal True, who testified for the defense that he was threatened in the office of Prosecutor Wilkinson, during preliminary investigation of the lynching.

Major Fallow and Captain Charles Fleming testified that they were present when Corporal True was before the board of inquiry and that no methods of intimidation were employed.

WANTED TO SWAP ONE OF LAW ENFORCEMENT MEN FOR MULE

Inebriated One Provides Diversion for Throgs Attending Trial at Hamilton

By FRED H. GORMLEY

HAMILTON, Ala., Feb. 5.—(Special)—Many things happened in Hamilton during the week to bring diversion and to remove thoughts of the seriousness of the duty which citizens of Marion county have been called upon to perform in deciding whether the nine members of the Alabama National Guard are innocent or guilty of the lynching of William Baird after the Walker county jail had been raided in the early hours of the morning of January 13.

Perhaps the most amusing of all things resulted from the appearance of a man on the street who seemed to have worshipped at the shrine of Bacchus for a few hours. This man's breath indicated that he had been among those present at some kind of a party where refined water had been passed freely among the crowd.

Anyway, this man owned the world and claimed credit for all the glory within the world. If he had kept this claim to himself he probably would not have attracted the attention of officers of the law, but he became rather liberal with his conversation.

He met a friend on the street who had a good mule, one which never failed to attract the eye of lovers of domestic animals. "I want that mule," the inebriated one is said to have told his friends, "and I want to trade you one of Connie Austin's law enforcement men for him." The friend refused to trade and the talker would have refused to go to jail but for the strong arm of the law which took him at this period of his existence.

Connie Austin is known throughout Alabama because of his activities against bootleggers, blind tigers and distillers, but it remained for a witness in Lancaster's trial to give him the name of "Coney" in recognition of the fame of Coney Island.

Every time that witness referred to Mr. Austin he called him "Coney" and every time he called him "Coney" those who knew Connie laughed.

Judge Sowell has been forced to make tighter rules of order for his court because of the throgs here for the trial of the soldiers. He has always permitted smoking in the courtroom, but this permission has been revoked and the judge has been forced to warn various persons that fines for contempt may be imposed if the new rule is not observed. "I am not opposed to smoking in the courtroom and smoke sometimes myself," said Judge Sowell in making the order, "but there is such a crowd here it is likely to be offensive to some."

Leell Gray of Jasper, an attorney for the defense, was the first to violate the order. Mr. Gray had practiced in Judge Sowell's courtroom for a long time and it was no easy matter for him to break himself of the habit.

Judge Sowell has also had a hard time keeping the crowd from making noises which interfere with the progress of the trial. The courtroom is small and the crowd large. The result has been that those in the back of the room have stood on benches in an effort to see the witnesses.

He stopped the trial one time yesterday and, looking toward the rear, said: "What do you think those benches are made for?" The crowd promptly stepped from the benches, but soon had stepped upon them again.

Judge Sowell stopped the trial again. "Those benches back there were made to sit on and not to stand on, and I am not going to stand for your standing on them." The crowd dropped again.

There was much coughing in the courtroom at another time. "I would suggest that those who have colds and coughs should go to the drug store across the street and get some cough drops," said the Judge.

Officer W. R. Searbrough, of the state law enforcement department, takes credit for capturing the only man who has been charged with dispensing liquor in Hamilton since the trial started. This man, Henry Jones, who lives 14 miles from Hamilton, is alleged to have secreted liquor in the woods near Hamilton and to have dispensed it to the thirsty ones. Mr. Searbrough secreted himself near the liquor cache and captured Jones and a fruit jar filled with liquor and a quart bottle half full. Jones made bond on a charge of selling liquor in violation of the state law.

The only automobile stolen from Hamilton in many years has been found. Somebody drove the car out of town and onto a country road a few miles away, where it was abandoned and was found the next day.

Jurors and spectators who are unacquainted with the strike in the coal district know what an "Esau joint" is. A witness in Sergeant Lancaster's trial referred to his passing the "Esau joint" while going from Townview to the soldiers' barracks.

"What is an Esau joint?" asked Attorney Leell Gray for the defense.

"An Esau joint is where they issue grub to union men," answered the witness.

Mrs. Cork, sister of Sergeant Lancaster, reached Hamilton yesterday and sat beside him during his trial. Mrs. Cork lives in Tuscaloosa county.

The mother and sister of Will Baird, the man lynched by the mob, have also come to Hamilton and sat behind the prosecuting attorneys during the day. Baird's father and brother have been in Hamilton since the trial began.

CHARLES G. DAWES IN STRONG LANGUAGE REBUKES POLITICIANS

It is easier to scope up water with a sieve, than it is to grind with the water that has passed. Not in such mild language, but with much more force, Charles G. Dawes, chief of supply procurement for the American army in France, expressed a similar thought, when he recently appeared before a House war investigation committee. Mr. Dawes, though a Republican and at present prominently mentioned to succeed W. G. P. Harding, as head of the federal reserve banking system, and also as a member of President Harding's cabinet, had been asked by Democrats to give testimony, in rebuttal of certain charges of war extravagance.

Among other claims, it had been argued that too little had been asked by this country for left over war supplies that had been sold to France. Mr. Dawes said that in his opinion the $400,000,000 charged for the war remnants, was really too much. The witness is reported to have said to the committee in stentorian tones:

"It is just that sort of fool argument that forced Great Britain to hold on to its stock and attempt to drive a hard bargain. The stuff is there today, rotting. You cannot discuss an ex parte question of 3,000 miles away. There is no use to try and throw mud when you were not there to know conditions. England lost billions of dollars by listening to that sort of talk—listening to a lot of people who were afraid of muck rakers at home. They are raising the devil in England now because England did not sell its supplies when we sold."

The star witness further told the committee and the nation, that time could be better spent in reforming the present manner of federal finance, which he described as "an evil of a hundred years standing."

But the witness' loudest language and strongest expletives were reserved for all those little politicians who since the signing of the armistice, have sought to get a kind of sham glory to themselves, by criticising and in every way possible detracting from the glory of the American army. Whether present or absent this class of folks received a real "cussing" from Mr. Dawes, who added that he had neither apology or excuse for choosing the language that he did. Parading real or imaginary faults of other people, especially when those people happen to be the ones who crossed the submarine infested ocean, to defend American honor and humanity on the fields of France will get nowhere with the majority of the people, when the people have time for sober thought and sound judgment, they will rise up and call the professional war critics "cursed." It is already beginning to be a national wonder, how it has come about that, critics of the war have been able to get away with what they have had to say, without being called down oftener and more profanely by such men as Mr. Dawes. The contrast, with which the general public is asked to regard the late great war, and its soldiers and the Civil war and its heroes, is another remarkable thing about present day "psychology." We have not been allowed—and it was right—to forget the war records of the men in blue and gray. But how little do we hear about the records of heroism of those who wore the khaki in the world war. For all we hear of it, in our busy strife among ourselves, where class consciousness is too pronounced the great war might have been fought ten thousand years ago on the planet of Mars. Can it be that if the so-called dominant party chiefs had led the great war, instead of the leaders of Democracy, that there would be such heavy blanket of silence thrown over the actual accomplishments of America, and so much mere noise and hot air about alleged extravagance practiced three thousand miles away!

"I am, only Ziba," Dr. Logan would say occasionally, as he proceeded with his great discourse. He said it was of small consequence as to how men fell, the important thing being that they were "down" and needed to be raised. He said that Mephibosheth had to be brought from a place named "Lodabar" which the preacher said meant "desert." The desolation caused by sin was pictured with great vividness. The escape of the lame man from poverty and ruin, was compared to the escape men may make now from desert places, to a seat in the palace of the Great King. The heartiness with which God receives returned prodigals, was told in such glowing terms, that those of his hearers who had accepted divine invitations previously, felt like they desired to accept them all over again. The preacher explained that as David wished to favor the descendants of his former enemy Saul, because of "Jonathan," as God wished to reconcile his enemies for "Jesus' Sake." When Dr. Logan spoke of unconverted people being the "enemies of God," he seemed to realize that he had raised a "leading question"; but he fully held his ground by stating very forcefully: "You do not believe you are enemies of God! But you are in rebellion against God. Your conduct if continued and multiplied would knock God off of His throne!"

MARTENS SEES A LIGHT

On the eve of his departure for soviet Russia the so-called "Soviet ambassador," Ludwig Martens who did not seem to be very cheerful over his prospective return to that happy paradise of idealists, made one statement that indicated he has seen a new light. Parrying the real reasons for his deportation in discussing the possibility of trade relations between the United States and Russia, the "ambassador" said that the whole question was one "of the sincerity of the governments entering into that agreement." Nothing could be truer than this. And in saying it Mr.

Martens has uncovered the sore spot in this whole much-muddled issue of trade with soviet Russia. For what Great Britain and all other nations, including the Scandinavian, that have essayed to look into this problem have learned is, that they cannot believe the spoken or written word of the soviet government or the soviet envoys in any particular. Absolute indifference to the good faith of anything they may say or do is the cardinal creed of the Bolshevik leaders. They make no bones about it. Lenine cynically admits that they have not the slightest intention of living up to anything that they may promise if it does not suit them so to do. In London the British government found out that Krassin promised solemnly one thing and did another. As he portrayed the great advantages of peaceful trade with Russia to those commercial circles in England whose good-will he wished to secure, at the same time he was paying one money for the revolutionary propaganda and did not conceal the fact from the "Red" revolutionaries that his "peaceful trade" speeches were all meant to deceive. Consequently he is back in Russia, and the question of his good faith and that of his government is still the stumbling block in the commercial negotiations. —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

"And he King said: 'Is here no yet any of the household of Saul, to whom I can show the kindness of God, for his son Jonathan's sake.'" Speaking from memory, these are the words of the text used by Rev. S. D. Logan, formerly pastor of the Westminster church, when at the Y. M. C. A. one Sunday afternoon, years ago, he preached a sermon, described by Dr. John S. Park, then pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Decatur, as "the greatest I ever heard in the Twin Cities, excepting the one I heard by Bishop Hendrix, from the text: 'I came that ye might have life more abundantly'." At the time of the sermon in question Dr. Logan, Rev. Golson Yates, and Rev. Geo. L. Jenkins, (the latter is now dead), were frequently heard at the shops, in the churches, and almost any where, speaking against the legalized saloon. Dr. Logan was one of the most commanding of all the "political parsons" who appeared against John Barleycorn.

To the query of King David in the text, Dr. Logan told his hearers, who were gathered in the second story auditorium of the Y. M. C. A., now turned into a dormitory that one Ziba, a trusted servant of the late King Saul, replied: "Jonathan, hath yet a son who is lame in his feet."

Second Samuel 4:4, names this son and describes him as follows: "And, Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son that was lame of his feet. He was five years old, when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan out of Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled; and it came to pass as she made haste to flee, that he fell, and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth."

Dr. Logan said that David ordered that Mephibosheth, should have all his possessions restored to him, and that the lame boy should "eat bread at the King's table continually." The preacher declared that he had chosen the story of King David's dealings with Jonathan's son, because it typified God's dealings with fallen humanity. As "Ziba" had carried out the King's orders to invite Mephibosheth, so the speaker declared that he would extend God's invitation of complete forgiveness, and the right to eat the bread of eternal life, to his hearers.

"I am, only Ziba," Dr. Logan would say occasionally, as he proceeded with his great discourse. He said it was of small consequence as to how men fell, the important thing being that they were "down" and needed to be raised. He said that Mephibosheth had to be brought from a place named "Lodabar" which the preacher said meant "desert." The desolation caused by sin was pictured with great vividness. The escape of the lame man from poverty and ruin, was compared to the escape men may make now from desert places, to a seat in the palace of the Great King. The heartiness with which God receives returned prodigals, was told in such glowing terms, that those of his hearers who had accepted divine invitations previously, felt like they desired to accept them all over again. The preacher explained that as David wished to favor the descendants of his former enemy Saul, because of "Jonathan," as God wished to reconcile his enemies for "Jesus' Sake." When Dr. Logan spoke of unconverted people being the "enemies of God," he seemed to realize that he had raised a "leading question"; but he fully held his ground by stating very forcefully: "You do not believe you are enemies of God! But you are in rebellion against God. Your conduct if continued and multiplied would knock God off of His throne!"

Outside of his chosen text Dr. Logan, quoted from other parts of the story of Mephibosheth, often reminding his hearers that "he did eat continually, at the King's table." He did not close his sermon, without reminding, that the relations of the guests of God, and their Great Benefactor were permanent, as were also those of David, and the lame son of Jonathan. Second Kings 21:7. "But the King spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the Lord's oath."

IN DEFENSE OF BACHELORS

Proposition to Tax Single Men Has Aroused Active Opposition of Philadelphia Scribes.

One of those business men's associations which so often are effective as goads to drive municipal ambition to the heights now invites the lifted eyebrow by suggesting that a tax of two or three dollars a year be paid upon every single man, remarks the Philadelphia Bulletin.

The notion is rooted in injustice. Obviously the business gentlemen are marvled. The single man, especially if he be young and thoughtless, is about the highest taxed citizen in the community. He is manna for the laundries and he pays as much to have his buttons sewed on—lonely man that he is!—as some real estate owners put up in formal taxes. He is the mystical element which enables the restaurant owners to pay high rents for expensive quarters in the central sections of the city, for he is politely robbed every time he sits down to a desolate meal. Though he exist in his rooms as lonesomely as a chambered nautilus, yet he is taxed to the hilt indirectly, since it is from him that the overland of the premises collects the money demanded by the house owner, and it is a certainty that the man who really owns the real estate doesn't pay his taxes out of his profits.

The city should rather mix a little philosophy with its taxation theories. Thereby it might do a double service to the community. Special taxes might be levied against the diamonds worn at dances, and especially on the diamonds which obese red gentlemen wear on their little fingers at the cabarets. Special taxation might go down the line from that starting point to take in fur coats, high hats, jeweled slippers, the tenth highball, and the other nonessentials so plentifully in evidence all about.

DISPOSED OF DREAD ENEMY

Remarkable Intelligence Shown by Prairie Dogs in Burying Rattlesnake Alive.

It would not seem a very easy thing to bury a snake alive, but that is what an Oklahoma man saw some prairie dogs do.

He was resting under a tree when he noticed a commotion among some prairie dogs near him. They would run up to a certain spot, peep at something, and then scamper back. Looking more closely, he saw 15 to 20 dogs about a rattlesnake, which presently went into one of the dogs' holes.

No sooner had it disappeared than the little fellows began to push in dirt, evidently to fill up the hole. By the time they had pretty well covered the entrance the snake stuck his head up through the dirt, and every dog scampered off to a safe distance, all the time barking.

The snake crawled to another hole about a rod distant, and went in. Then forward came the dogs again, and all went to work to push up earth to the hole. This time they succeeded, and completely covered the entrance. This done they proceeded to beat the earth down, employing their noses for this purpose. When they had rendered the earth quite hard they went away. The observer examined their work, and was surprised to find that they had packed the earth in solid with their noses, and had sealed the snake inside.

Remedy for Hiccoughs.

Several cures for hiccoughs will be welcomed by many mothers. Have the patient suck a lump of sugar having a few drops of vinegar on it. Drink a glass of water upside down. That doesn't mean to stand on your head, though it certainly sounds rather like it. Hold the glass of water in one hand, lean forward and bend over the glass, tilting it away from you, and drink from the other edge.

Another remedy is to stand facing the person hiccoughing, grasp her hands firmly, look steadily at her and get her to breathe evenly, keeping time with you. Or have her hold her breath and count 60. Or take nine gulps of cold water very slowly.

Acquiring Good Speaking Voice.

The formation of a good or a bad speaking voice is a question of habit. But in order to acquire that habit easily the child must hear nicely modulated voices about him. If your own voice is harsh or nasal your child may unconsciously imitate your mode of speaking. Or if companions talk "through the nose" he may assimilate their way of talking.

Try your best to keep your voice in the proper pitch while your children are about, and keep a watchful ear on their voices. If you hear one word spoken in a nasal twang correct it at once, so that the child will know the difference between the right and the wrong ways.

Hard to Cure Stuttering.

A prominent physician says elocution exercises usually aggravate stuttering; he has never known hypnotism to effect a cure, and psycho-analysis used alone cannot succeed. The effective treatment is very complex and delicate, and the slightest mistake may make a cure impossible. It involves thorough study of the bodily conditions, minute regulation of home influence and business habits, relaxation of mind and body, spontaneity of expression, equilibrium of emotions, precision of thought, correction of character, development of confidence, readjustment to environment and the learning of a new method of speaking.

Railroad Briefs About Town

A communication just posted by Master Mechanic C. W. Matthews of the Louisville and Nashville shops, which has attracted much notice, first calls the attention of "all employees" to business conditions on the Nashville and Decatur division, and adds:

"It has been suggested that we bring to the attention of every employee the desirability of increased efficiency."

"If every employee will render the best possible service, the shipper will patronize this line in preference to other roads that do not furnish such service. The increased business thus derived will give employment to those who are now without work."

"Avoid waste and damage. It is estimated that if every employee on this division would save one pound of coal a day, it would result in a net saving of $5000 per annum."

"Use lights only when needed."

"Stop the leaks and waste of water."

"Avoid rough handling of cars and economize in the use of oil."

"Have old tools repaired where possible and save those suitable only for scrap."

"Render the best service possible every minute that you are on duty without wasting time."

"Economize in the use of stationery, which costs more than twice what it did three years ago."

"Do not hesitate to bring to the attention of the heads of your respective departments any means of effecting economies and improving the service that may occur to you. Your thoughts may be used to develop more business and effect economies."

The following letter by H. O. Cline, who is president of the Central Labor Union, has been forwarded by him to the address below, and is self-explanatory:

Rev. U. E. Reid,
Pastor Moulton Baptist Church,
Moulton, Ala.

Reverend Sir:—Your letter addressed to the Central Labor Union of Albany-Decatur has been referred to me, as president of that organization, to answer. In this letter you commend the stand we took recently for a strict enforcement of the prohibition laws. It is the great privilege and duty of all citizens to see to it that the laws are obeyed, and it is a great pleasure to notice that our action has met with your approval, as well as that of many of our good people who have commended our action. As I was a resident of Lawrence county, living near Moulton from early childhood to young manhood, at which time I was a pupil under the splendid teacher, Prof. C. G. Lynch, it gives me especial pleasure to answer a communication from one of the highly esteemed ministers of the gospel living in that section.

With sincere thanks for your words of commendation and encouragement,

Yours truly,
H. O. CLINE,
President Albany-Decatur Central Labor Union.

It is reported that the blacksmith department will soon suffer the loss of John Johnson, who is expected to retire soon. Mr. Johnson almost continuously has served in the local shops as a blacksmith for about 30 years. He is now near the 80th milestone, but is an exceedingly well-preserved man. He was born in Sweden, where he served his apprenticeship at the iron trade. Since removing to this country, he has been steady and painstaking in his work, and by an upright life and square dealings has won for himself a well-deserved place in the esteem of his associates. He has a number of relatives in this country, all doing well. He has two sons in Albany, Charles Johnson, the well-known barber, and Carl Swanson, a step-son, who is a machinist in the local shops. Mr. Johnson has several other sons, most of whom are in the railroad work. His son, Rupert, who was reared in Albany and served his time as a machinist here, is now an assistant foreman in the Louisville and Nashville shops at Birmingham. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Wiloughby Presbyterian church.

Eugene Sittson, who has suffered an attack of the "flu," has almost recovered sufficiently to return to work.

J. R. Gray continues ill at his home on 12th avenue, west.

G. C. Frazier, formerly a machinist of the roundhouse, has accepted a position with Morgan county as a mechanic in charge of roadway machinery.

R. O. Donaldson spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Ben Drake, night foreman of the roundhouse, was on leave of absence for a few days recently.

T. H. Ramsey of the roundhouse is slowly recovering from a long illness at the Benevolent hospital.

B. M. Brown, a valued employee of the car department, and father of Capt. Raymond Brown, is seriously ill at his residence in West Decatur.

WE KNEW

A man who said he was a careful Automobile Driver.

HE WAS

He said if he ever had an accident it would be the other man's fault.

IT WAS

But it cost him $200.00 to prove to the jury that the other man was to blame.

He could have saved this money and worry by having one of our automobile liability and property damage policies.

THIS PIPE HAS A HISTORY
Was Smoked by Sir Walter Raleigh,
Who First Introduced Use of Tobacco Into England.

A pipe with a history is in the possession of a collector in London which was once the property of Sir Walter Raleigh, and is not unlike the letter "Y" in shape. For centuries it has been kept in an inlaid box dated "Anno, 1627." It is constructed in four pieces of wood, rudely carved with dogs' heads and with the faces of Indians. On the bowl there is a cap about as large as the bowl itself, and attached to the stem is a string of beads made of the same wood as the pipe. In this stem a powerful whistle has been cut, and the suggestion is made that Sir Walter used it to summon his servants.

The Archaeological society exhibited this pipe at Guildhall in the middle of the last century, the inscription accompanying it bearing these words: "The original pipe of the above celebrated historian of the world, and who first introduced tobacco and potatoes into England." Tradition, corroborated by a parchment in the possession of the owner, states that this pipe was smoked by Sir Walter on the scaffold just before his execution and handed to one of his relatives as a memento of him.

COTTON MARKET

SHOWS BIG GAIN

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The cotton market was much steadier at the opening today. June started one point lower, but active options showed gains of from 5 to 13 points at the start, followed by further upturns. There was covering for over the week-end, based partly on an idea that Liverpool would respond next Monday to the abandonment of the excess profit tax in Great Britain. Firmness in foreign exchange also aided the movement upward.
At the end of the first 15 minutes prices were about 63 points above last night's close.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON IS UNFINISHED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—It will come as a surprise to many people that the United States Capitol is unfinished. A still greater surprise is the fact that an appropriation of $20,000, made three years ago by Congress to finish the blank space in the historic frieze in the cyclorama, far up in the vast dome of the building, remains unexpended.

More than 30 years ago, Brumidi, the great Italian artist, died, leaving unfinished the great work of panel painting in the rotunda of the capitol. Now comes Charles Ayre Whipple, a Frenchman, who is probably the artist who will fill in the space left blank by Brumidi. He hopes to paint in a panel entitled "The Spirit of 1917." Naturally, it reflects the story of the World War, thus fitting in with the other historical panels detailing striking events in the history of the nation as far back as the rescue of Captain John Smith by Pocahontas.

When Congress appropriated $20,000 to complete Brumidi's work it was with the proviso that an artist be found who could imitate the great Italian artist's style. Artists say that Whipple's panel is a masterpiece.

Beloved Woman Dies at Knoxville

A wire from Knoxville this morning to J. P. Matlock brought the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Mary Walker, mother of Mrs. Matlock, who is there now. Deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church, a splendid woman and a most lovable character. It is said of Mrs. Walker that she had only good to say of all, a beautiful trait. Mr. Matlock leaves tonight to attend the funeral.

THE FAMINE IN CHINA

Bishop Lambuth delayed his departure from the Orient in order to investigate personally the famine conditions in northern China. The following telegram to the Board of Missions was sent on his arrival at Vancouver:

"Nine thousand lives saved by your draft. Situation growing worse. One thousand men, women and children frozen to death in one night at Kalgan. Fourteen million now facing starvation or death from disease or cold. I bring samples of leaves, thistles and corn-cobs being eaten. The wolf is at their throats. Wild-eyed mothers with shriveled breasts throw their babies into wells. China is rising nobly to the emergency, but cannot cope with it single-handed. Our people must do their best, and do it quickly. Publish this in every paper on the front page. There is no time to be lost. Just arrived from China and received telegram from President Woodrow Wilson appointing me on Famine Commission. Will do my best."

OF USEFULNESS AT LAST

Alarm Clock, in Its Final Moments, Proved That It Had Some Reason for Existence.

(By the loony author of "How to Make a Dollar Go Furthest or Twenty Remote Places to Send a Money Order," "Solving the High Cost of Living," or the Widow Stultiz Marries the Grocer," "The Deluge, or Swigger's New Forty-Dollar Suit and Dollar and a Quarter Fountain Pen," "Monsie MacSwusters," "The Lustrous Lamps of Laura Lafferty," "Winnie Wiggins' Wondrous Ways," etc., etc., etc.)

"Pssst! Squak! Bzaampff! Yeeow-w-w-ll!"

"Skeek! Yoozzff! Skaaa-pluff!"
"Meeskaag! Pthhh! OOOOOO!"

"Hl! 77... X-X-17" exclaimed Tungsten Berner as he sprang out of bed. Looking out the window he saw 20 assorted cats on the back fence, simultaneously telling each other the tragic story of their lives. Desperately seizing his Big Siam alarm clock, Tungsten buried it with all his might and almost all his main, muttering, "Maybe you'll be of some use at last; you haven't woke me up on time for two months."

The clock hit the top of the fence, split open, and its works, like shrapnel, flew in all directions. The next morning Tungsten found 13 corpses of 13 cats on his grass-plot; sold them to a manufacturer of imported furs, and bought a regular alarm clock—Detroit Free Press.

Adhesive From Snails

Many of the larger snails have at the extremity of their bodies small white bladders filled with a gelatinous substance. The Scientific American claims that this is the strongest adhesive known for the repairing of porcelain, glass, etc. The substance is applied thinly to both sides of the fracture and the broken pieces tied firmly together so that all is held in place. A rather longer time for drying should be given than in the case of ordinary adhesive so as to allow the natural glue to acquire the greatest degree of strength.

pie, a Frenchman, who is probably the artist who will fill in the space left blank by Brumidi. He hopes to paint in a panel entitled "The Spirit of 1917." Naturally, it reflects the story of the World War, thus fitting in with the other historical panels detailing striking events in the history of the nation as far back as the rescue of Captain John Smith by Pocahontas.

When Congress appropriated $20,000 to complete Brumidi's work it was with the proviso that an artist be found who could imitate the great Italian artist's style. Artists say that Whipple's panel is a masterpiece.

Hospital Notes

Fourteen patients and all convalescing.

The grounds have been much improved the past two weeks. The dead trees having been cut down and chopped up for wood, the place raked and elm trees set out on each side of the driveway, in a few years the shady road will be a beautiful approach to the hospital.

It was a kindly thought that prompted the giving of the collection taken at the graduation at the Central Baptist church Sunday night to the hospital. It amounted to more than $28 and was greatly appreciated just at this time when work on the grounds is in progress.

The Westminster Junior Missionary Band showed their enthusiasm by collecting curios for an exhibit at the Sunday school room Thursday night. Indian pottery, rugs and baskets were especially interesting as their home work is partly among the Navajo Indians. Pictures of Mission stations and baskets from Alaska where the band contributes to the Sheldon Jackson school in Sitka. China was represented by pottery, shoes and a plate from Canton where the True Light seminary for girls is their special work. Japan had a beautiful brass tea kettle, flowers and other articles, while Japanese and Chinese incense perfumed the air. India prints and several wood articles from far away India.

There were African native woven garments and horrid idols from Africa, a German Bible and pottery several hundred years old.

Chocolate and wafers were served by members of the band to the visitors who appreciated the hospitality.

Makes Hot Water Bottles Last Longer

To make a hot water bottle last longer and fit the body more comfortably, remove all air from the bottle after filling and before screwing in the stopper, by resting the bottle on a shelf or table, holding the top of the bottle in one hand and gently pressing down until the water comes to the opening. Hold in this position while the stopper is screwed in. The bottle should not be more than two-thirds full.—M. H. S. Iowa.

Rub-My-Tien is a powerful antiseptic; it kills the poison caused from infected cuts, cures old sores, tetter, etc.

FOR TORPID LIVER

Jamestown, Tenn.—"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years, in fact it is the only liver medicine that does me any good," says Mr. L. A. Ragan, a well-known lumberman of this place. "When I was single, I used it for headaches, and especially if I got a cold and feel feverish, I take a good dose of Black-Draught, and it sets me right."

"Since I have been married, I have used it in my family, and never have found its equal for torpid liver or disarranged stomach, especially with children. I can recommend Black-Draught, and gladly do so." Every member of the family occasionally needs the assistance that Black-Draught can give, in helping to cleanse the system and relieve or prevent the troubles that come from a lazy, torpid liver.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you may suffer with headache, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, etc. Unless relief is obtained, serious sickness may result. In its long and successful use, Theodor's Black-Draught has been found in thousands of cases to relieve such disorders, by stimulating the liver to do its important work. Ask for Theodor's Black-Draught, and insist on the genuine. NC-127

MISS MARY LOU AND UNITY DANCEY BRIDGE HOSTESSES

Friday was the day chosen by the Misses Dancy on which to entertain at cards. The guests, who were invited for two o'clock were received by these hostesses in the ball room of the Lyons Hotel, which was most artistically decorated for this brilliant affair in a motif suggestive of the valentine season. A graceful basket of red roses with ferns adorned the piano, while other floral decorations were blooming Persian violets. A pleasing lighting arrangement was effected by the heart decorated red shades.

Twelve linen covered tables were placed for the Auction game and hand painted heart shaped score cards, marked the places for forty eight guests. The table, arranged for the guests invited for the social hour which followed the game, was centered by a clymen and further emphasized the Valentine motif in the heart shaped place cards and cupids.

After a most interesting contest the handsome silver basket offered for high score was presented Mrs. C. B. Elliott and the consolation, an exquisitely cut mayonnaise bowl was awarded Mrs. Sam Irwin, who was so fortunate as to cut the Heart Ace. Mrs. J. Chaffin received the booby, a picture Valentine.

Miss Dancy, whose costume was sand colored silk, handsomely embroidered in ruby beads, wore diamond ornaments. Miss Unity Dancy was gowned in heavy black satin with over dress fashioning the long knotted fringe from the waist line to the hem of the skirt, her waist was trimmed in cloth of gold, and her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. Kimbrough wore black satin embroidered in silver butterflies. Mrs. Le Fils was gowned in black tricolette and wore diamonds.

Following the prize presentation, an elaborate three course menu was served.

Plants That Give Heat.

We do not, as a rule, think of plants as giving out heat, yet at certain times some flowers show an astonishing rise of temperature. Most remarkable in this respect are certain kinds of arum. Just at the opening of the flower, in these cases, there is a great liberation of heat; this is due to the fact that the respiration, or breathing, is at such times very vigorous. Some very interesting experiments have been carried out in connection with these arums by means of placing a thermometer just inside the spathe. One of the most remarkable cases was that of species growing on the Mediterranean coast, and known as arum italicum. The temperature of the air was 60 degrees at the time of the experiment. That inside the spathe was 110 degrees! At that time the blossoms, which when expanded are practically scentless, gave out a fragrance suggestive of wine. It is said that plants of this type are practically common in Mexico. —St. Nicholas.

THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Editor of The Daily:

This proposed amendment, which requires that every person who desires to register and vote, in addition to the qualifications already prescribed, "must be of good character and must understand the duties and obligations of citizenship under a republican form of government," not only requires a very high degree of intelligence on the part of the ordinary citizen, but puts in issue the character of every man and woman who attempts to register and vote, as you will readily see when you read this provision of the law, which this same legislature made to enforce it. Section 13, Acts of Special Sessions, 1920—applicants may be refused—"Any person making application to register who fails to establish by evidence to the reasonable satisfaction of the board of registrars, that he or she is qualified to register, may be rejected." Is it not evident to the simplest mind that the character of every woman in Alabama is directly assailed when she is required to establish it by evidence before three men who are selected to carry out the law under the manipulations of those higher up? Pass this amendment and it will settle woman suffrage in Alabama, for the reason that few would appear for registration, if it were whispered that every woman would be required to bring her witnesses to establish her good character, not that she could not do it, but she would refuse to submit to such humiliation. The plain truth is that this amendment is intended to disfranchise a certain class of our citizens, but it can be used, as similar amendments have been used in the past, to cut into any class. If this is a mistake, why is it that more than one-half of the men in Alabama are disfranchised? This amendment must be voted on next Tuesday, and to maintain your self-respect and the honor of your family, vote against it and call the attention of the voters to it. The road bond amendment is out of this election by reason of the decision of the supreme court on the original bond amendment, but this suffrage amendment is not. Don't overlook it.
